

Architecture of Government conference

The Government and Public Policy (GAPP) think tank, in partnership with Financial Mail, is holding a three-day online conference exploring how to fix a state beleaguered by dysfunction and inefficiency.

Successive administrations have been unable to drive and coordinate public institutions to realise the mandate of an elected government, resulting in an unprecedented social and economic malaise.

The conference will draw on the expertise of leading international scholars and experts from the Global South in the fields of governance, politics, and public policy. The aim is to explore the potential configuration of the state that might help improve the capacity and functioning of government.

Distinguished participants will include Achille Mbembe, Pratap Bhanu Mehta, María Antonieta Alva, Trevor Manuel, Angela Stent, Busani Ngcaweni, Yamini Aiyar, Xolela Mangcu, Hsu Huang and Omano Edigheji.

The details of the conference are as follows (relative to Central African Time/CAT (UTC +02:00)):

- July 5 (Tuesday) from 12.30pm to 4.45pm
- July 6 (Wednesday) from 12.00pm to 5.30pm
- July 7 (Thursday) from 1.00pm to 5.00pm

The full programme and biographies of the speakers are available on the registration page. Register Here
